His orders were to lower them to the saloon rail and lash them. He did not know who was responsible for them being lowered.

The starboard boats would have leved through the night had they remained at the saloon rail and would have been able to save many passengers. There would have been fifty times more chances for the boats to save passengers then than in the night after the steamer had struck.

NEW YORK LIFE MONEY SQUANDERED

Special Trustees' Committee Severely Condemns McCall and Hamilton.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.-The special committee appointed by the trustees of the New York Life Insurance company to investigate the affairs of the company to day made a partial report of its labors to the directors. This report deals only with the relations of Andrew H. Hamilton, the legislative agent, with the company and is a severe arraignment of his meth ods.

John A. McCail, former president of the New York Life Insurance company, also comes in for a share of the committee's criticism. He is blamed for his methods in connection with the "bureau of taxation and legislation" during the last tenyears and for allowing Hamilton to pay vast sums of money without a proper accounting. accounting.

Make Them Pay Back.

Make Them Pay Back.

Special attention is called to remittances of $10,000 to Mr. McCall in London and $134,000 to Hamilton in Paris. In 1900. The purposes of these remittances, the committee says, it has been unable to ascertain, and recommends that proceedings be instituted against Hamilton and McCall for an accounting or repayment. The committee adds on this point application has been made to Mr. McCall for information regarding the transaction, but that it is informed by Mr. McCall samily that his physical and nervous condition is such that the subject cannot be talten up at present.

Hamilton Is a Dodger.

As to Mr Hamilton's health, which has been reported as bad, the committee says it has been informed that he was physically able to travel and has exerted every effort to induce him to return to make a full disclosure of his payments, disbursements and transactions, but without success.

Responsible for $35,000.

Responsible for $35,000.

The committee also holds McCall and Hamilton responsible for $5,000 advanced to Hamilton to pay the State tax and which the committee declares was used by Hamilton for his own purposes. The committee is advised that both are liable for this sum. The committee maintains also that it is a matter for legal adjudication as to whether George W. Perkins of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. is not liable for the payment of Hamilton's notes for $59,310. Mr. Perkins paid this account, the committee holds, out of the New York Life Insurance company's share of profits in its participation in a United States Steel corporation syndicate. The committee holds also that the payment of these notes by the company was unwarranted.

Perkins in Good Faith.

Perkins in Good Faith.

It is only just to Mr Perkins to say, the report adds, that he acted in the matter in entire good faith; that he derived no benefit from the transaction, and that his liability, if any, is a technical one. The committee recommends that the law department of the company institute appropriate legal proceedings to carry into effect the findings and conclusions of this report.

this report.

The report is signed by T. P. Fowler,
Norman Ream, Hiram Steele, Augustus
G. Payne and Clarence H. Mackay, and was unanimously adopted.

Hamilton Gets $90,000.

Hamilton Gets $90,000.

On October 18, 1294, the Court of Appeals handed down a decision under which the New York Life Insurance company was allowed a tax credit of $272,703. This could not be drawn in cash, but portions of it were assigned to nine other companies for $39,626. That sum was collected by or for Hamilton," reports the committee, and has been retained by him without any entry in the books of the company." The committee sets forth that this was explained by the fact that Mr. McCall had made an arrangement that Hamilton was to have one-third of the tax savings under the legal proceeding. This arrangement the committee characterizes as improvident, and suggests that Hamilton ment the committee characterizes as in-provident, and suggests that Hamilton should be called upon to establish his legal right to retain the $50.038.

cisco Court.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—The jury in the crass of Chillien Bowen, on trial for killing W W Stevenson, last night returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree, and recommended the defendant to the mercy of the court. The recommendation probably will fix Bowen's punishment at imprisonment for life.

The murder was committed under sensational circumstances. Stevenson and Bowen had been neighboring ranchers in Nevada, and Bowen won the affections of Stevenson's wife. The woman came here to undergo a surgical operation, and Bowen lived with her after she was discharged from the hospital. Stevenson was informed of the situation and, coming here, forces his way into the room occupied by the shuple. As he entered the room he was shot dead by Bowen.

Treating Young Cows.

He claims to have approximately solved this problem. Cows are treated when young with a fluid which Prof. Behring calls tuberlouse.

It is injected under the skin of the young cows repeatedly for two or three weeks. The remedy at first was very costly, because it was almost impossible to preserve it in good condition, but a method has recently been discovered by
